

RESEARCH MATERIALS

The library has print materials such as:

- Books to learn about the law
- Form books
- Primary legal materials including state statutes and administrative codes
- Court rules

The library also offers online resources including:

- Westlaw: Extensive legal materials for Washington, other states, federal, and practice materials
- Lexis: Washington-specific and federal materials
- NOLO: Legal self-help books

ONLINE CATALOG

Learn what is in the library's collection by searching the online catalog. Library materials are for research purposes so need to be used in the library.

FORMS

The library has forms for subject areas such as debt collection, adoption, and civil lawsuits as well as for many situations including family law, real property, probate, and guardianship.

Many forms are specific to Washington, but there are also national form book sets that can be adapted to other situations.

The mandatory court forms for divorce, parentage, relocation, visitation, modification, and minor guardianship are also available.

SELF-HELP FORM KITS

The library sells self-help kits with forms and instructions on many topics. See the library website for the current list of kits.

Form kits can be purchased with cash or credit/debit card at the library or online and mailed. Kit prices vary.

COMPUTERS

The library has two computers that can be used for legal research. A librarian can help you learn how to conduct a search. Time limits apply. Printing is available for 25 cents per page.

COPIERS

There are two public photocopiers in the library. Copies are 20 cents per page, and the copiers accept cash and credit/debit cards.

LIMITATIONS

The information provided by the library is not intended to substitute for legal or professional advice. You should consult with a lawyer about how information you find may or may not apply to your unique situation.

Law librarians are prohibited by law from offering legal advice or opinions on legal issues.
